

Contributor's biography

Akiko Ueda

Akiko is an Associate Professor, Global Collaboration Centre, University of Osaka, Japan. akiko.ueda@glocol.osaka-u.ac.jp

Andrie Kusserow

Professor of Cultural Anthropology; and Chair, Department of Sociology and Anthropology, St. Michael's College, VT, akusserow@smcvt.edu

Anne-Marie Schreven

Honorary Consul, Consulate of the Netherlands in Thimphu, Bhutan, and expert on Organizational Development. aschreven@snvworld.org

Arthur Fishman

Professor of Economics, Bar Ilan University, Israel. afishman@mail.biu.ac.il

Carl Polley

PhD Student, Linguistics, University of Hawaii, Degree Fellow, East West Center, Hawaii, US. polley@hawaii.edu

Dave Augeri

Denver Zoological Foundation, Denver, CO. augeri@wildrockies.org

Dena Freeman

Lecturer in Anthropology at the Hebrew University of Jerusalem and a Fellow of the Truman Institute for the Advancement of Peace. Her research focuses on three areas - happiness and wellbeing, international development, and cultural transformation in rural Ethiopia. She has a PhD from the London School of Economics and a MA from the University of Cambridge. Initiating Change in Highland Ethiopia: Causes and Consequences of Cultural Transformation (Cambridge University Press, 2002) and Peripheral People: The Excluded Minorities of Ethiopia (Hurst, 2003) are some of her publications. dena_freeman@hotmail.com

Chencho Dorji

Chencho studied psychiatry at Colombo University, and Poona University, and currently works as a consultant psychiatrist at Jigme Dorji Wangchuck National Referral Hospital, Thimphu. He is an expert on treatment of alcohol and drug use disorders. A recipient of the Hubert Humphrey Fellowship and a WHO Fellowship, he is a member of American Psychiatric Association, American Public Health Association, and Addiction Medicine Education Research Association. chenchodorji@gmail.com

Ethel Lowen

92 years young, Ethel Lowen distinguished as the oldest participant in the conference. She graduated from University of Iowa with an M.A. in Clinical Psychology. From 1945 to retirement in 1990, Ethel Lowen was self employed in Industrial Sales, and now divides her time living in India and the U.S. lowensharon@gmail.com

Frantz Verella

Professor, University of Haïti (UEA), and Former Minister of Telecommunications and Infrastructures of Haïti. fanfanv@hotmail.com

George Burns

Clinical Psychologist; Director, The Milton H Erickson Institute of Western Australia; Director, Hypnotherapy Centre of Western Australia; Editorial Advisory Group, Psychotherapy in Australia; and Adjunct Senior Lecturer, School of Psychology, Edith Cowan University, Western Australia. georgeburns@iinet.net.au

Hans van Willenswaard

The Founder and Coordinator of Innovation Network International (INI Foundation) in 1991, and currently Co-Manager of International Projects, Suan Nguen Mee Ma Co., Ltd. He was the coorganiser of the Third International Conference on Gross National Happiness in 2007 in Thailand. hans@gnh-movement.org; www.suan-spirit.com; www.gnh-movement.org

Jason Whalley

Course Director, Masters of Communications Management,
Department of Management Science, Strathclyde Business School,
Glasgow, UK. jason.whalley@strath.ac.uk

John Nirenberg

Ph.D., Walden University, USA, john.nirenberg@waldenu.edu

Jon Hall

Jon Hall is the Project Co-ordinator of the Global Project on Measuring the Progress of Societies. Jon studied maths, statistics and public service administration, and initially worked for the UK government before moving to Australia to work for Australian Bureau of Statistics in 1999. In 2000 he led the development of a brand new project to measure national progress which culminated in 2002 with the publication of Measuring Australia's Progress, and its second issue Measures of Australia's Progress published in 2004. Jon.Hall@oecd.org

Juju Chin Shou Wang

Juju is the Professor of Environmental Sociology at National Tsing Hua University, Taiwan. He is also the President of Taiwan National Trust (TNT), and Bamboo Broom Union, Hsinchu City, Taiwan. juju@mx.nthu.edu.tw

Junko Edahiro

Chief Executive, Japan for Sustainability, and Affiliate Researcher, Tokyo University. She is one of most prominent environmental journalists, and a major icon for slow movements in Japan. She received M.A. and B.A. in Psychological Education from Tokyo University, and she had adjunct professor positions in Tokyo University from 2005 to 2007. junko@e.email.ne.jp

Karma Galay

He is a researcher at the Centre for Bhutan Studies. He studied economics at Sherubtse College, and Stanford University, California, US. karmagalay@gmail.com

Kezang

Deputy Director, IT Park Project, DIT, Ministry of Information and Communications, Royal Government of Bhutan.
s_kezung@yahoo.com.

Khenpo Phuntsho Tashi

Director, National Museum of Bhutan, Paro, Bhutan.

Masanori Kakutani

Teacher Education Unit, Faculty of Psychological Science, Hiroshima International University, Japan. m-kktn@he.hirokoku-u.ac.jp

Meena Srinivasan

Meena Srinivasan, Faculty, American Embassy School.
meenasrinivasan33@gmail.com

Michiyo Okuma Nystrom

Researcher, Ph.D. Institute of International Education, Department of Education, Stockholm University, Stockholm, Sweden.
okuma@mbox.su.se

Mohammed Kamruzzaman

Coordinator, Bangladesh Nari Progati Sangha (BNPS), Dhaka, Bangladesh

Nic Marks

Nic has been a nef associate since 2000. In 2006, Nic founded nef's centre for well-being. Nic was the co-author of the first edition of the UK Index of Sustainable Economics Welfare, which nef co-published in 1994. He has been a close associate of Manfred Max Neef, the Chilean Ecological Economist for over a decade and the Well-being programme is in part seeking to operationalise some of Max Neef's ideas in the policy arena. He has a degree in Management Studies from Cambridge University. Nic.Marks@neweconomics.org

Nicholas Rossellini

He was then the Resident Coordinator of UN System in Bhutan, and currently the Deputy Assistant Administrator/Deputy Regional Director, UNDP Regional Center in Bangkok, Thailand.

Nille Van Hellemont

Nille Van Hellemont She studied Master of Arts in Graphic Design, Publicity and Photography; Poster Arts; and Master of Arts in History. She worked as a graphic designer and educational coordinator, and is currently a civil servant, Ministry of Foreign Affairs Belgium. nillevanhelle@mac.com

Prabhat Pankaj

Dr. Prabhat Pankaj has MA and PhD in economics from India and has served for about 6 years in Bhutan as senior lecturer in Sherubtse College. He has completed several projects on Bhutan funded by UNFPA, UNDP and Planning Commission. His major works include studies on poverty, trade and GNH in Bhutan. Dr. Pankaj has also worked with CBS on Bhutan's economic relationships with neighbouring countries. Presently, Dr. Pankaj is a professor in a premier B-School in Delhi. prabhat.pankaj@igsm.in

Ragnhild Bang Nes

Researcher at Department of Adult Mental Health, Division of Mental Health, The Norwegian Institute of Public Health. ragnhild.bang.nes@fhi.no.

Ram Fishman

Doctoral Student in Sustainable Development, Columbia University, New York, U.S.A. ram.fishman@gmail.com

Riichiro Oda

General Manager, Japan for Sustainability / President, Change Agent Inc. He is General Manager at Japan for Sustainability (JFS), which disseminates environmental information from Japan to the world in English and in Japanese. He founded the Society for Learning Organization (SoL) Japan community, which promotes inter-development among people, their organization, and their community using “learning organization” disciplines. He received BA in Laws from Tokyo Metropolitan University and MBA in General Management from the University of Oregon. oda@change-agent.jp

Roma Mitra Debnath

She is an Assistant Professor at IILM Graduate School of Management, Delhi, India, roma.mitra@gmail.com

Ronald Colman

Dr. Ronald Colman is founder and executive director of GPI Atlantic, a Halifax-based non-profit research group that is constructing measures of wellbeing and sustainable development (the Genuine Progress Index) for Nova Scotia. The GPI uses full-cost accounting methods to assess the social, economic, and environmental benefits and costs of economic activity.

Ross MacDonald

Senior Lecturer, Management and International Business, University of Auckland Business School. ra.mcdonald@auckland.ac.nz

Serge Miranda

Professor of Computer Science, Director of MBDS degree, Jmagine Foundation (www.jmagine.org), University of Nice Sophia Antipolis, France. miranda.serge@gmail.com

Sharon Lowen

Sharon is a leading performing artist of three genres of Classical Indian Dance, Odissi, Manipuri and Chhau. A scholar, teacher and performing artist of American origin, Sharon has been in India since 1973 after studying Humanities, Fine Arts and Asian Studies, and Dance at University of Michigan. Her publications include The Performing Arts of India – Development and Spread Across the Globe. lowensharon@gmail.com; www.sharonlowen.com.

Terue Ohashi

Terue Ohashi is a leading sociologist in Japan, an outspoken proponent of women's equality, and one of the developers of the 'milieu' approach to social categories. She is a professor at the International School of Economics and Business Administration at the Reitaku University in Tokyo. She has written about changes in Japan's consumption society, about marketing strategies that harmonize the environment and the economy, as well as about changes in the status of women within Japanese society. Dr. Ohashi has won numerous prizes for her writing; she has assisted several Japanese ministries, including the Ministry of International Trade and Industry; and she has also applied her work in business as Marketing Director for Daiko, Inc. HQM02522@nifty.com

Vijay Shrotryia

Vijay Kumar Shrotryia is a Reader & Head of Department of Commerce, School of Economics, Management and Information Sciences, North Eastern Hill University (NEHU), Shillong, Meghalaya, India. vkshro@gmail.com